1. Applicant is response to the restriction requirement elected Group I, claims 1-16, of the invention with traverse. In view of applicant's traverse the restriction requirement has been carefully reconsidered. The examiner's requirement is deemed to be proper for the same reasons as set forth in the previous office action. Accordingly, the restriction requirement is hereby made Final. Claims 17 and 18 stand withdrawn from further consideration.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,344,477 to Miki et al. and further in view of US 5,040,589 to Bradley et al.

Miki et al. substantially show (see, col. 1, lines 24-35) the invention as claimed except that they do not show to rheocast Mg alloy to unite the conductive core object. However, it is a common knowledge that Mg alloy possesses high thermal conductivity, it would have been obvious to use Mg alloy as a cast material for forming the fins of the heat exchanger of Miki et al. Further, Bradley et al. show that it is desirable to rheocast Mg alloy, instead of die casting of molten Mg alloy, such that to reduce the energy consumption, increase the die service life, etc. (see col. 1, lines 10-51). It would have been obvious to use the semi-solid Mg alloy of Bradley et al. as a casting material in the process of making heat exchanger of Miki et al. in view of the advantage. With respect to claims 3 and 4, it would have been obvious to obtain the optimal composition and process parameters for forming the fins through routine experimentation.

5. Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,344,477 to Miki et al. and further in view of US 5,040,589 to Bradley et al. as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of US 3,841,390 to DiBenedetto et al.

Dibenedetto et al. show to continuous cast articles by using a use a continuous casting machine, which consists of two series of die plates, such that to speed up the casting process. It would have been obvious to use the continuous casting machine of DiBenedetto et al. for forming the heat exchanger of Miki et al. in view of the advantage. with respect to claims 11 and 12, it would have been obvious to obtain the optimal composition and process parameters for forming the fins through routine experimentation.
